

Introduction

This is the story of My Life organized into a series of “memoirs which are all accessible from one page As of now, I am still working on this project. While several members have been completed, I will continue to revise them from time to time. Some memoirs have not yet been put online and are marked “in processed.” I welcome any and all comments, including Corrections and suggestions. For this purpose, please send me email me at the address: d2@btrimble.net

I intend to complete this project during the year 2025.
